

The Nature Conservancy — Tensleep Preserve Summer 2024 Weekend Stay

The heart of The Nature Conservancy's Tensleep Preserve is a twelve-mile stretch of Canyon Creek, slicing deeply through the southwestern flanks of the Bighorn Mountains. Ancient pictographs and Native American gathering sites reveal a long history between people and the land. The ecological richness that first attracted people here continues to attract visitors to the preserve.

During your private weekend stay, up to 12 guests will enjoy rustic accommodations in the preserve's tent camp. The lodge provides the perfect setting for meals, conversation, and relaxation. Explore the local geology, examine western flowers, watch for wildlife, and soak in expansive views of spectacular canyon country.
